

HAS AUSTRIA
MADE TERMS WITH ITALY?

COME DISPATCHES WOULD INDICATE THAT PEACEFUL SOLUTION IS POSSIBLE.

GENERAL WAR NEWS

Fighting on West Front is Again Reported—Troops Wait Word at Dardanelles.

London, April 22.—The deadlock in the negotiations between Austria and Italy has been broken and hope of a settlement of questions at issue with respect to arms has been revived in Rome. It is not known by persons other than those closely concerned, what changes have taken place to remove the apparently hopeless situation of the armistice. Austria or Italy has made concession. Italy has been represented previously as demanding the entire territory of Trent as well as Dalmatian islands and the Adriatic coast. Austria has been willing to yield only a comparatively small part of its territory.

A strong Turkish army is preparing to offer resistance to the land forces with which the allies expect to attack the Dardanelles fortifications from the rear. An Athens dispatch says the Turks have entrenched themselves strongly along the coast of Gulf of Saros. It is in this vicinity, according to unofficial advices yesterday, that 20,000 British and French troops have landed. Turkish resistance along the coast being bombarded by warships of the allies.

London, April 22.—Hill No. 60 dominating an area to the southeast of Ypres continues to be the storm center of the western front, with the British clinging tenaciously to the ground taken by assault last Saturday. Counter attack after counter attack has been made by the Germans, but the British hold is still disputed, but the Germans and the end of the lively and costly fighting is not yet in sight. The British losses have not been announced, but they are estimated at well over 2,000. The Germans are believed to have lost more than 4,000 men.

The French drive in the direction of St. Mihiel, about the only other significant move on the west front, has been held up by the weather. The condition of the ground east and west is now being directly reflected in the local operation. The situation along the entire western front is for the moment apparently at a standstill, floods having impeded military activity in the Carpathians to a large extent, while practically nothing has been heard of movements in Poland. On the other hand fine weather has prevailed in the west for some days, and barring a heavy storm the ground will become daily, a condition which should cause increased activity on the German side.

The British press concedes that the taking of Hill No. 60 is largely a local matter, but it considers this engagement an important step forward and great relief to the town of Ypres, long under bombardment. This German, in possession of this hill, were not only above the town but they threatened the British line in the vicinity of St. Mihiel. The taking of Hill No. 60, therefore, reduced the unconquered Ypres salient, strengthened the British line to the south, gives an advantageous position for further efforts and renders the German offensive in the difficult.

Paris, April 22.—Twenty-nine more French generals have been placed either on the reserve or retired list to make way for younger or more active men. The official journal approved the names of eleven generals of division and eight generals of brigades who have been released from active service.

Sanity Case Merits Undecided for Thaw

Judge Will Render Decision Whether Harry Will Have Opportunity to Be Proven Sane.

New York, April 22.—The question as to whether Harry K. Thaw is entitled to have a jury determine his sanity remained undecided today in the mind of Superior Court Justice Hendrick, when the state of New York appeared in court to hear his decision. Justice Hendrick announced he had not yet had time to complete his story of legal authorities and hope to be able to render decision tomorrow.

The proceedings were based on a writ of habeas corpus adjourned until that time.

Super-Saloon Founded by Mrs. Despard for Fighting Rum Shops.

London, April 22.—The "Despard Arms," the super-saloon founded by the famous suffragette leader Mrs. Despard with a view to luring young men and young women away from places smelling of beer and liquors, has been opened to the public in one of the laboring districts.

The model public-house is situated upstairs, inasmuch as the stairway is not an obstacle to customers parking of tea and soda pop. It does not resemble very closely its original, for sanded floor, the row of beer bottles and the collection of colored bottles are lacking. As a super-saloon, it makes no concessions of this kind, but has a smooth floor, small tables covered with white oil-cloth, on which set vases of daffodils, while prints from the old masters ornament the walls. A piano occupies a corner of the room, where music as well as certain approved games are allowed. Amateur cooks bring in cooked delicacies for sale at a nominal price, for although alcoholic liquors are taboo, there is no injunction against a patron eating all he can pay for.

So far, the Despard Arms has not hurt the business of the neighboring public houses in the least. The ordinary workman feels lost and ill at ease in such surroundings, and the young suffragettes did not bring young men with them, there would be no business.

BRITAIN'S SUBSEAS
MENACE HELGOLAND,
GERMAN NAVAL BASE

German Admiralty Reports Presence of Submarine Craft in North Sea Waters Off Kiel.

Berlin, via London, April 22.—The German admiralty today gave out a statement saying that in a certain German bay in the North Sea, British submarines have been repeatedly observed recently, and attacked by German forces. Such a hostile submarine was sent to the bottom on April 17, and the destruction of other such vessels is considered probable.

The admiralty statement specified Helgoland bay as the scene of the appearance of British submarines. This bay lies between the mainland and the island of Helgoland, one of the most important German naval stations.

English Vessel Sunk.

Aberdeen, via London, April 22.—The Fascist trawler arrived here today with the crew of the trawler Envy, and reported that the Envy had been shelled by a German submarine last night off the east coast. The men on the Envy, in a small boat, left their ship. The small boat, they say, also was shelled by the submarine. No one was injured. The Envy's crew drifted about in small boats for two hours before being picked up. It was not established whether the Envy was sunk.

ASSEMBLY PASSES
BILL FOR DOMESTIC SERVANTS WELFARE

Minkley Bill Calls for Investigation by Industrial Commission into Conditions Surrounding Servants.

Madison, Wis., April 22.—By narrow majorities in each case the assembly last night passed the Minkley bill for an investigation by the industrial commission into the conditions surrounding domestic servants in the state, as a step towards providing measures toward safeguarding their morals, and killed the Grell bill repealing $200,000 appropriated for a medical and physics building and abolishing the university high school.

Passes 45 to 38.

The domestic servant bill passed by a vote of 45 to 38. Assemblyman Minkley, Wingard, Spoor and Bradley spoke for it, and Assemblymen Billingson, Laursen, Lathrop and E. A. Everett against it. There was much joking with the bill, which the author re-acted. Assemblyman Wingard said mothers, sisters and wives of the members of the same kind of work that servants do, yet they are not considered in the same class. He said it is time to make a start towards healthy, sanitary, moral conditions for girl workers. Mr. Minkley said the bill was inspired by revisions brought out by the anti-vice committee.

Amendment a Joke.

An amendment by Mr. Pieper applying the bill only to households where the hired girl is not allowed to eat her meals in the family dining room, was not taken seriously.

On the Grell university bill, Mr. Grell said the university high school was in the expenditure of the public money when the small number of graduates is considered. He attacked President Van Hise for lobbying before committees on university bills. Mr. Hambrecht resented the criticism of the president, who he declared had never been guilty of pernicious lobbying. Mr. Grell said he was not an enemy of the university and was not trying to tear down, but he was strong for economy. Nordman and Weber defended the president. Mr. Weber said the assembly seemed to have been seized with a bad case of "anti-university phobia." Before the vote was announced Mr. Grell changed his vote in order to move reconsideration.

Referred to Committee.

A motion to refer the Ploeger bill, creating a new county named Burke out of Outagamie and Burke counties, to the special committee provided for at the morning session, created great excitement with Assemblyman Minkley in the chair handling the matter. The bill was finally tabled. The vote indicated a sharp discussion in the assembly over this measure.

The assembly concurred in the Ploeger bill conferring on the municipal court of Milwaukee county concurrent jurisdiction with the circuit court in matters pertaining to habeas corpus.

MRS. STORY REIGNS
SUPREME IN D. A. R.

New York Lady's Faction Will Dominate Politics of Daughters for Next Two Years.

Washington, April 22.—With the long drawn out fight for control of the national organization of the D. A. R. over, and with the faction headed by Mrs. William Cummings Story of New York to direct its destinies for another two years, delegates to the annual congress again settled down today to clean up the routine business before them.

The result of yesterday's balloting, announced early today, showed that Mrs. Story has been re-elected president-general, and her complete ticket was elected to office by substantial majority. Mrs. Story received 695 of the possible 1,158 votes, the remainder going to Mrs. George Thatcher Quernsey of Kansas, opposing candidate.

ROOSEVELT SELECTS CAREFUL LANGUAGE

UNDER CROSS EXAMINATION IN BARNES SUIT HE SELECTS HIS ANSWERS WITH GREAT PAIN.

LABORS DIVERSIFIED

Colonel Brings Laugh Saying He's Sometimes Naturalist, Author and Public Official.

Syracuse, April 22.—During the first part of his cross examination of Theodore Roosevelt today, Wm. Evans, chief counsel for Wm. Barnes, brought from the former that he knew the constitution of New York provided no man is eligible to office of governor unless he has been a resident of the state for five years prior to the date of his election and that he made an affidavit the year previous to his own election that he was and for some time had been a resident of Washington.

Colonel Roosevelt's counsel made no objection whatever to the line of questioning which resulted in the statements.

Mr. Evans, sitting or standing directly in front of the witness chair, questioned the colonel in a voice that was heard by all.

Joseph Bailey.

Joseph Bailey is chief counsel for the Riggs National bank of Washington in its big injunction suit against Secretary of the Treasury, William G. McAdoo and Controller of the Currency John Skelton Williams. Bailey was formerly United States senator from Texas and enjoyed the reputation of being the leading authority on constitutional law on the Democratic side of the upper house.

was scarcely audible to spectators in rear of the court room. Several times the witness started to make explanatory statements, but he was interrupted by the cross examiner and informed that answers not explanations, were desired. The colonel replied to his questioners with great deliberation, choosing his words carefully.

In reply to various questions, Mr. Roosevelt said he had been a naturalist, author and a public official; that sometimes he followed a public career simultaneously. This answer caused the crowd in the court room to laugh.

The colonel described his campaign for mayor for New York on the republican citizens ticket in 1886, when he was beaten. He said at that time he was in contact with William Root, who was a republican leader. He took to his ranch when he wrote "The Winning of the West," in two volumes. Other questions related to his time in office as police commissioner of New York and up to the time he was assistant secretary of the navy.

WAR SCARE WEARING OFF AMONG ITALIANS

Panic Among Depositors in Post Office Banks of Italy at Outbreak of War Decreasing Rapidly.

Rome, April 22.—The panic which seized depositors in the postoffice banks at the outbreak of the European war is "plainly wearing off," according to the report of Signor Riccio, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs. From July to December last there were withdrawals amounting to a net loss of 1,000,000 lire (approximately $374,000), or a reduction of 8.83 per cent of the deposits, the first part of the year.

The postoffice banks, however, "ever," says Signor Riccio, "regained the confidence of the people by the system of paying on request, without having recourse to the moratorium. I have raised the interest on deposits from 2.50 to 2.85 per cent, which makes it higher than any banking concern. In time I intend to increase the system of checks, in this way I have saved our thrifty working classes from the clutches of dishonest private banks. Ever with the storm of 1914 the total deposits in the postoffice banks represented more than one-third the sum deposited in all other Italian institutions of credit. An extension of the postoffice savings banks, for the benefit of the savings of emigrants, is contemplated.

From 1909 to 1913 the deposits in the postoffice banks rose from 1,682,000,000 lire to 2,091,000,000 lire, with an average addition of 127,000,000 lire every year. The high point in July 1914 was 2,139,000,000 lire.

MILWAUKEE CONTROL OF CITY UTILITIES
BILLED FOR DEATH

Vint Bill for Local Control of Public Utilities Has Small Support—Minor Laws Acted Upon.

Madison, Wis., April 22.—The assembly committee on transportation today reported for indefinite postponement the Vint bills for the local control of public utilities in Milwaukee and other cities. The original bill was recommended for indefinite postponement by a unanimous vote and the second bill, which was recommended by Assemblyman Budington, one for the same passage, failed between two points and the other during the hours of railroad employees.

Minor Bills.

The committee on public welfare of the assembly unfavorably reported the Weber bill for the establishment of a hospital for the care and treatment of leprosy; the Frederick bill prohibiting the attendance of women nurses unless accompanied by a physician; and the Nelson bill to repeal the eugenics marriage law. It recommended for passage the Minkley bill for repealing of room where persons have been suffering with contagious diseases. It unfavorably reported two bills relating to embalming.

On Saloon Laws.

Assemblyman Grell's bill for the opening of the saloons on election days after the polls are closed and the Alenbacher bill which relieves a saloonkeeper from liability where the latter signs a statement that he is of age. This latter bill was sent back to the committee for amendment and the committee incorporated provision for a signed statement.

Safety First Bill.

To lessen the number of accidents on railroad tracks is the effect of the bill introduced by Senator Biehler before the state assembly committee of the assembly yesterday afternoon. The railroad representatives contended that they have no control over these accidents which are daily increasing because the public will use the railroad tracks as a thoroughfare. The Hambrecht bill makes it a misdemeanor to walk on railroad tracks.

Sensor Biehler appeared before the elections committee in favor of his bill, which has already passed the senate. He said that the bill has been given a fair trial and had been found to be cumbersome and of no useful purpose.

KAISER ADDS RULES FOR PRIZE CARGOES

Ship Owners Must Have Cargo Consigned to Person Named in Papers or Be Liable to Capture.

Berlin, via London, April 22.—Amendment to the prize rules governing the operations of the German navy signed by Emperor William and Admiral Von Tripitz, published in the Reichs Anzeiger were designed as reply to the decision of the court in England and her allies contravening the declaration of London of February 26, 1909.

Under the new order, field glasses, naval instruments, lead, explosives, coal and coke are added to the list of contraband, including wool, rubber, iron and several other ores. The regulation prescribes that these articles shall be assumed conditional contraband destined for the enemy.

Consigned "to order or to a person whose name does not appear in the ship's papers, or a person in the enclosure of the manifest, and who has provided that a ship shall be liable to capture even if bound for a neutral port.

Conditional contraband may be confiscated for a neutral country from which nations at war with Germany obtain articles of the kind in question.

SENATE TOOK MEDICAL BILL
UP IN DEBATE

SENATORS IN HEATED DEBATE OF BENNETT BILL TO PREVENT BIG APPROPRIATION—WOULD REPEAL FUNDS.

WOULD REPEAL FUNDS

Bill Is Referred to Finance Committee By Vote of 18 to 13—Pass Bill For Completing Capitol Building.

Madison, April 22.—Senator Bennett's bill to prevent the expansion of the university medical school from two to four years' curriculum was referred to the finance committee after an hour's debate marred by sharp exchanges between senators.

The senate first passed an amendment striking out the provisions which limited the schools to instruction in non-clinical subjects only. Senator Bennett said that the university authorities have no objection to the bill as framed. He urged that the appropriation of $200,000 for the school for a physics building to accommodate the school be repealed. It was not included in the last tax law. Senator Biehler said the legislature should go slow in repealing funds which are not absolutely necessary for the university and he favored referring the matter to the finance committee. Senator Bennett promised that Governor Philipp will veto any of the appropriations not included in the last tax law which is one. Senator Jennings said he would serve notice that if the governor proposed to hold the veto club over the senate, he for one would vote to override the veto. Senator Sturgeon criticized any threat that may have been made by the governor. Senator Everett said he would reserve the right to differ with the governor, although he would be anxious to hold him in all laudable work. The bill was referred to the finance committee 18 to 13.

Vote is given.

The vote follows:

For—Senators Arnold, Biehler, Bosshard, Bray, Culbertson, Everett, Glenn, Huber, Jennings, Kellogg, Konk, Mulberger, Potts, Rollman, Scott, Skogmo, Stevens, Weissleder.

Against—Senators Ackley, Alberts, Barwig, Baxter, Bennett, Burke, Cunningham, Fairchild, Hansen, Martin, Murray, Staudenmaier and Whitman.

Pass Whitman Bill.

The senate passed the Whitman bill appropriating $1,200,000 for completing the capitol and the Fairchild bill for a camp for instruction of militia officers.

The Hambrecht bill making Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday, was reported out by the committee on state affairs for indefinite postponement.

Kill "Peaching" Bill.

A bill by Senator Bennett allowing a portion of the fines for conviction in liquor cases to be paid to non-resident communities to be paid to the community was killed 15 to 16. Senator Burke lined the informer to a spy in a speech opposing such legislation.

The bill legalizing theatrical shows, baseball games and similar amusements on Sundays received a favorable report by the senate state affairs committee.

The lower house killed by an overwhelming vote, a bill for semi-annual payment of taxes. It was a resolution by Carl Hanson calling for complete data from the legislative reference library on all money expended by the university since 1875. It refused to kill the Johnson bill exempting growing timber from taxation and engrossed it. The Hambrecht bill calling cities to submit to a vote of the people in the event whether appropriations of money shall be made to aid industrial and commercial enterprises was engrossed.

The senate action was taken on the bedding bill for the testing and taxing of grain in elevators and warehouses.

INCREASE IN BEER
PRICES IN GERMANY
AGREED BY BREWERS.

Amsterdam, April 22.—Berlin brewers have agreed to increase further the price of beer by five marks per 100 liters. There will also be a similar increase in the price of mineral waters and bottled soft drinks.

The Demand
Definite

Few goods are indispensable. There is generally something that can be sold in their place. Demand for your goods must be definite. It must specify them by name.

It should be of a character that makes substitution undesirable.

Newspaper advertising creates that definite demand for the manufacturer.

It brings people directly to the dealer's store who ask for the goods by name.

Dealers cooperate with this kind of advertising.

Manufacturers interested in increasing the demand for their product are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

CRITICISM GIVEN OVER MORAN BATTLE

Recent Wells-Moran Fight in London Arouses Debate on Spirit of Holding Matches.

[By Associated Press.]
London, April 22.—The Wells-Moran fight at the London Opera House, in which the English champion, the English champion, added yet another to the dramatic defeats of his career, has started a storm of questioning as to why an able-bodied man should be taking part in boxing matches instead of being with the British army at the front.

"We do not wish to criticize Wells," remarks the Daily Chronicle, "except to say that, first, his most famous opponent, Carpentier, is now serving with the colors in France, and, second, it seems to us improper that he should retain a military title in the prize ring when his public performance proves that he is in a fit state to go into the field."

Wells' reply came back by return mail. It was as follows: "My duty is clear. I must stay where I am, and I think my reasons are good. Could I see my way clear to go to the front I would be the lightest hearted man in England. I have been in the army, serving several years in India, and I secured my discharge to devote myself to the science of boxing, at which, despite a half-dozen defeats, I suppose I may claim to have attained some proficiency. During the war I have boxed several times on behalf of war funds, thereby doing the little bit that lay within my power."

"Two of my brothers are at the front, and a third was the first man killed in his regiment. I alone remain at home to support my wife and children and the other members of the family, dependent upon me. If I had no ties, I should be off to the front without delay."

In this same connection, several of the newspapers have renewed the agitation that professional boxing be suppressed until the end of the war. "The only prize-fight worth entering at present," writes one editor, "is the physical struggle in the ring."

Lady Randolph Churchill, on learning that a considerable number of women were present at the Wells-Moran fight, wrote the following comment for the newspapers: "I should hope that women had something better to do than to watch sham fighting at this moment."

There is plenty of opinion, however, in favor of continuing the boxing matches. Eugene Corri, the referee, sums up this side of the argument in the statement: "Boxing is a stimulus to the fighting spirit; nothing is better calculated to maintain the spirit of British pluck; boxing does not hinder recruiting; it rather encourages it."

PLAN WATER WAGON FOR BALL GROUNDS

Would Supply Patrons at Big League Game With Prohibition Liquor Free of Charge.

[By Hal Sheridan.]
New York, April 22.—Free drinking water at all baseball parks: How does that strike you fans? "Three rousing cheers," its a fact, a reality, already at one big league park—that the fans don't have to sit through a game thirsty and with throats too parched to yell, with their only reliance the seductive but unsatisfactory pop bottle—or personally conducted hip pocket supply.

I am told that O. B. magnates are to have a heart and supply free drinking water, at least wet if not iced,—at many baseball parks. The success of the experiment of giving the fans access to barrels of drinking water, free of charge, at the Washington American League grounds, is said to be the cause of considering a general free drinking water policy in other parks.

For the comfort of the fans, the free drinking water innovation this season at Washington's Florida avenue park is a howling success, according to all reports reaching here. Even the pop and soda water concessionaires, who at first viewed the innovation with alarm for their profits, are said to be satisfied that it does not cut into their profits seriously.

The Washington club, however, forced to install the free drinking water tanks, an act of Congress, passed last winter, was the cause. Representative Howard of Georgia, a thirsty fan, fathered the bill which compelled the club to have water on the free of charge. And now the club owners are said to be considering similar consideration for fans in other cities.

THE GOOD JUDGE GETS A REASON THAT HE KNOWS IS GOOD.
THAT MAN'S DESPERATE. I WONDER WHAT'S HAPPENED, AND IF HE'S GOING TO MAKE TROUBLE.
HE'S ONE OF THE MOST SUBSTANTIAL MEN IN THE COUNTRY. JUDGE, BUT DARNED DISAGREEABLE WHEN THE DEALER RUNS OUT OF THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW.

TEMPER, whether good or bad, depends a heap on a man's getting the tobacco satisfaction he has a right to. Man after man will tell you that "Right-Cut," the Real Tobacco Chew, gives a comfort and contentment he never had before. He insists on it for himself and he recommends it to his friends.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and moistened so that you won't have to grind it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

MORRIS MILLER

The Pittsburgh club sends infielder Jimmy McAuley, Catcher Bill Wagner and Pitcher Gus Miller to Youngstown of the Central league. All are out under option and Manager Curley Blount of Youngstown will attempt to polish them up for Fred Clarke so that they can be used next year.

Apparently Detroit made no mistake when it placed Pep Young at second base, as the Coast league graduate is one of the fastest second sackers in the business. Eddie Collins and Terry Turner, in fact, are the only ones who have anything on him in fielding and neither one of the two is as fast as Pep. They are super for only in experience and reliability. He is also a splendid waiter and a fast man on the paths and is likely to score many a run for Detroit with that Cobb-Crawford combination coming up behind him.

Louis Dismore carries a most unique good-luck bringer. He thinks it has won many races for him and saved his life in many others while it rested in his inside pocket. It is a prayer written by Mrs. Barney Oldfield many years ago and given to Dismore by Barney. It brings good luck to those who read, repeat or memorize the mystic phrases.

Alma Richards, the Olympic champion in the high jump, will carry off the lion's share of the glory and the prizes at the Pennsylvania relay race carnival in which he is entered. Richards, who will represent Cornell University, is entered in the high jump, broad jump, shotput, discus throw and the avella throw.

Billy Andrews has announced his intention of racing at the fall meeting of the Panama exposition. He is not known just what horses the Beau Brummel of the harness game will take to Frisco, it is known that among the number will be Les Axworthy and Newel.

Brooklyn promoters are planning a gala celebration to take place at the National League baseball park, Decoration day. George Chip and Al McCoy have already been signed for the show. Efforts will be made to secure Johnny Kilbane and Kid Williams, who have just pitched against Eddie Wallace and Williams against Dutch Brandt.

Across the continent by motorcycle in five days. That is the object of a transcontinental dispatch relay which with the aid of the war department is to take place early in July. The promoters, Motor Cycling of Chicago and Motorcycle Illustrated of New York have undertaken to demonstrate to the war department the effectiveness of the motor.

WHITE SOX CLOSE DETROIT SERIES WITH A DEFEAT, 4-3.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Detroit, April 22.—The White Sox almost won a game yesterday. It was so close that they only dropped their sixth straight game by a matter of 4 to 3. The Rowland bunch went into the last half of the ninth with a one-run lead and bright prospects of a victory. Then they blew the Tigers clawing home two tallies and the game.

The Sox displayed poor baseball on the bases. Reb Russell was on the slab until the ninth, and until then he was bringing in great form. On a bunt Brief failed to cover first and Russell threw into the outfield on an easy out. Exit Russell and Babe Ruth to the rescue. Two tallies counted on bad baseball and another defeat was registered against the Sox.

A home celebration was made for the Sox this afternoon in their game against St. Louis at Chicago.

New York Signs.
New York, April 22.—McGraw's pennant hunters suffered a clean-up by the Philadelphia club, Moran's team winning the series, the last game going 6 to 1. Poor pitching has caused the set-back of the Giants. The Philadelphia Nationals have shown great speed under their new manager.

Cubs' Game Off.
Chicago, April 22.—The final game of the Cubs and Pittsburgh was postponed because of rain yesterday. The Cubs left on their first tour, playing St. Louis today on the western swing. Lavender and Archer, who are suffering injuries, were left at home.

MILLER HUGGINS ISN'T WORRYING
This picture of Miller Huggins was taken after a recent game between the Cardinals and the Cubs, which was won by the former. Huggins expects to make a fine showing in the National League this year. cycle in army service. With this and in view the dispatch relay will be started from the army post at Governor's Island, to terminate at the Presidio at San Francisco. Running night and day, the trained riders covering the various relays will average better than thirty miles an hour, which should suffice to bring the message into Frisco in better than five days.

That long and conscientious service is occasionally appreciated in golf was shown when Charley Hunter, the veteran professional of the Prestwick club in Scotland, received a gold watch and chain for his own use and a rose bowl for his own use and a check for $470 to mark the occasion of his having completed fifty years as a professional.

WAGNER SEEKS RIGHT TO COMPETE IN RACE

Famous French Pilot After Furlough to Enter Race at Indianapolis.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Indianapolis, April 22.—Louis Wagner, one time winner of both the Vanderbilt and Grand Prix races, and runner-up in the last French Grand Prix, is making desperate efforts to get away from Europe for the next Indianapolis 500-mile race with a Grand Prix Mercedes, like that driven by De Palma.

Wagner, though a Frenchman, has been persona non grata with the French government because of his German name and previous German affiliations, particularly those which resulted in the defeat of Bollet and Goux by Mercedes in the Grand Prix. Though still in the French army, he believes his indelible reputation will enable him to get a furlough, which on arrival in this country, may be able to extend indefinitely, without protest from the authorities.

The addition of Wagner to the speedway list of entries would unquestionably add much class to the field, as he is one of the world's best drivers, and proposes to bring with him one of the very best cars. Whether he will succeed in his negotiations, of course, remains yet to be seen, though he is very optimistic.

JESS WILLARD STOPS IN CHICAGO ONLY SHORT TIME.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Chicago, April 22.—Jess Willard, who restored the heavyweight title to the white race, passed through Chicago last night on his way to Kansas City. The new champion asserted he would not appear in a ring engagement for at least eight months.

With Willard, Mike Gibbons, middleweight American champion, Freddie Welsh, lightweight title holder, Tommy Burns, former heavyweight champion, and Ad Wolgast, who is seeking to stage the Gibbons-McFarland battle in Milwaukee as a promoter, were all in Chicago yesterday. Welsh suffered an injured shoulder in his battle with Red Watson at Hudson and has cancelled his bout scheduled in Pittsburgh and Boston with second rate boxers.

Eddie Pullen's baby's little shoe perhaps is the best known of all the good-luck bringers. The Mercer pilot won much fame and has escaped injury while carrying this tiny talisman. The little shoe always is riveted to the cowl of Pullen's car during practice and the race.

The Promise of A Better Tire Day
Goodyear Fortified Tires came, years ago, to promise men a better tire day. And that promise was fulfilled.

They made Goodyear the largest-selling tire in the world, a place it has held ever since. Last year men bought 1,479,883—about one for each car in use.

Not Magical
Don't expect in the Goodyear a magical tire. It is not exempt from mishap and misuse. It won top place because it averaged best. It did that because, in five great ways, it excels every other tire. It combats in five ways, exclusive to Goodyears, these six major troubles—

Lower Prices
Yet these costly-built tires, in the past two years, have been thrice reduced in price. Our last reduction—on February 1st—brings the two-year total to 45%.

Never has a tire given so much for the money as Fortified Tires do now. We ask you, for your own sake, to prove it. Any dealer will supply you.

THAT BINDER TWINE.

Gradually the administration has been unwinding the snarled "binder twine" plant at Waupun state prison, until the bare facts have been discovered and the truth is known that the plant has been costing the state some sixty thousand dollars a year. That under the guise of reform, second hand, obsolete machinery has been procured and that dealers throughout the state who have purchased the product of the prison factory, have not seen fit to make payments when due. It is a sad case of mismanagement, but just another example of the entire "reform system" that is being gradually made known to the public through slowly, through the investigations of the joint legislative committee.

That the binder twine plant at the prison would be a failure was predicted when it was first contemplated but it was one of the reform ideas that met with popular favor and was passed by the legislature, extolled on the stump and made part of campaign issues to show how hard the reformers were working for the benefit of their fellow men. Now it is discovered that it is costing the state sixty thousand dollars a year to experiment with, everything considered, is pretty costly even for reform.

Like the purchase of immense and useless supplies of print paper, like the wasteful expenditure of money by the state university, like the theory of "go out and get the money" by the income tax assessors, the taxpayers have been paying their share of this experiment that has been used to extol the Wisconsin idea throughout the country, raise the farmers, the manufacturers and the working and professional man's taxes.

Governor Philipp has done well to stop further waste. He will do a greater service to the state if he will go even more deeply than he has into the whole affair and stop other wastes that are known to exist, but whose presence have been kept cleverly covered up in the reports of the board of control, one of the most arbitrary state autocratic organizations that any state could boast of.

The failure of the "binder twine" idea is not unexpected. In fact it was freely predicted when first discussed. But like the primary law, the Mary Ann law, and the other reform measures, it was crammed down the throats of the people whether they liked it or not and the real facts carefully hidden so the truth of its failure would not be apparent.

If this condition is true of the state prison why are not similar conditions true in other state institutions under the management of the board of control? Why not go deeper down under the surface and find what really exists? Why not probe the expenditures of thousands of dollars by various institutions and see the why and wherefore? It would be a long and arduous labor, but now the opening wedge has been driven, so why not continue the good work of bringing sunlight and publicity to dark and mismanaged affairs of state?

THE RURAL SCHOOLS.

One of the chosen problems that Governor Philipp is attempting to better in his present state administration is the rural schools. The Janesville gentlemen who visited the numerous schools in Rock county during this past week in the interests of the Commercial club's corn contest and the good roads movement, can appreciate more and more the requirements of our rural schools and what Governor Philipp is aiming at. It is all well and good to say that the cities and towns and villages have good schools and the children from the country can attend them, but the next question is how? The country school, the old-fashioned school told of in Whittier in his wonderful poem of the "Barfoot boy with cheek of tan," has not passed. The country school plays its part today as in the past, and it is up to the citizens of the commonwealth of Wisconsin to see that it is equipped to continue to play its part in the making of men and women for the future generations. We may spend millions on higher education building dormitories for sons of rich men at the university. We may erect state normals at a cost of hundreds of thousands. Appropriate other thousands for research work in far-off countries, but right here at home is a problem that needs attention. The old days of the country schoolmaster, of the Ichabod Crane type, with his swallow-tailed coat, his iron spectacles, his bunch of birch whisks, his three R's—"reading, rithmetic"—is gone into the sacred past and in its stead is the present underpaid rural school teacher. The country school is an American institution. It has followed the flag. It has followed the constitution. It has been handed down to us from the bleak shores of New England and we honor and revere it. Let us not neglect it. Let us not forget the schools our grandfathers and great grandfathers were educated in and aid in the great work of giving to the modern day boys and girls, in country districts, the best fundamental education possible by equipping the school buildings with the best material for educational purposes obtainable, and making the compensation for teachers such that it will attract the best material possible for instructing the boys and girls of today to be the men and women of tomorrow. Many a business man of today, men successful in the world of finance, look back with a glow of pride to their country school training. Their desk carved with the initials of former students—perhaps their own—and the modern honor and reverence it. Let us not neglect it. Let us not forget the Americanism by neglecting it. Janesville is perhaps particularly fortunate in having many teachers interested in the human side of their students. Some fail to reach the inner soul of the young people entrusted to their care, while others reach the very bottom and bring to the surface the very best that is in the child. The profession of teaching is not one that can be learned by note or figure. It is a natural gift. We must encourage it. We must give due compensation for the work of the brains of the men and women who are today instructing the students. The rural school teachers are the class that receive least for the actual work accomplished. Perhaps this is because the standard for the teachers' rate is not high enough. If so, let us raise it, but give the boys and girls the best opportunity that can be given to lay the foundations for future manhood and womanhood if it must be under adverse conditions. The men who visited the Rock county schools are warm in the praise of the conditions they found. Some may perhaps criticize some particulars, but as a whole Rock county is progressing along educational lines in a manner that can be better appreciated in years to come and should be encouraged by citizens generally.

Clean-up day has been decided upon and in fact two days have been selected so as to give everyone a chance to do their best to make Janesville the spotless city. Soap, water, brushes, paint and paper will work wonders if properly applied and it is to be hoped the rake and wheelbarrow will also do their share in bringing the city to a state of cleanliness.

The average business man does not give a snap for the boy with the latest style suit of clothes, the most modern tie and the sharpest pointed shoes, or the hat of the prevailing color as he does for the chap who is neat and clean and attends to his work in a businesslike manner and does as he is told without watching the clock to see if it is quitting time.

What with the Commercial club's corn contest, the good roads contest under the auspices of the same organization, and the big "binder twine" fair's contest for boys along the same lines and others, there is no reason why Rock county farmer boys should not be a very contented lot of youngsters this season and interested in agricultural matters generally.

The "native sons" of California have been recruited wonderfully by a lot of duffer eastern men who saw a chance for the big boom on the Pacific coast with all the trend of travel westward this present year. No European trips desired at present.

Rushing matters through the legislature is now the program. The session will be cut as short as possible but it is safe to say no adjournment will be taken until next December, as long as important bills remain undecided.

SNAP SHOTS

(By Jay E. House.)

It is the theory of those who have observed individual cases that the law is badly employed when it seeks to restrain the white woman who wishes to marry a colored gentleman.

In our town little attention is paid to sartorial convention when a man removes the lead pencil from his pocket of his vest he is dressed for the party.

What, by the way, has become of the Civil War veteran who voted as he shot?

If you have good taste you were born with it. Good taste is a gift, not an acquirement.

Drake Watson says a shiftless woman is one who stacks up her dirty dishes and goes out to attend a meeting called to devise a plan to end the war in Europe.

Sim Hecke has been married three times but Sim claims he never proposed to a woman in his life.

Those who wish to establish the truth will find it necessary to lie a good deal in doing so.

When a colored man runs from a policeman, that is instinct. The white race has always been the hunter, the colored race the hunted.

When a woman has no diamonds

there is nothing she deprecates so much as the vulgarity of people who wear diamonds.

A woman switches on the porch light and goes upstairs to bed secure in the thought that she has frightened away every burglar in the neighborhood.

THE HICKEYVILLE CLARION.

Grandpa Bibbins is laid up with the skyatic rheumatism at this writing and is unable to attend to his regular duties, which is causing to backer back of the stove in Tibbits' store.

William Tibbits' delivery horse is so thin that Tibbits hangs the harness on his show-bloose nightgown, which saves putting up harness hooks. Tibbits feeds sawdust with the ground feed, nine parts of sawdust to one part feed, and says the horse ain't complaining about it yet, although he does seem to be getting that wooden expression of countenance which we read so much about in Robert Chambers' novels.

Elmer Jones was talking on Miss G. H. the other night. At there, Elmer. Pull the front window curtain down after this.

"I've got a great money-making idea," said Mr. Binks to his neighbor.

"What's that?" inquired the neighbor.

"Do you see that automobile of mine?" asked Mr. Binks, pointing with all of the pride of a campaign speaker.

"Well, every time I take that car apart to fix it and put it together I always have fifteen or twenty parts for them. I have taken that car apart three times and I have got the back end of my garage full of parts and the car runs just as well as it ever did. My idea is this. I think when a man has taken a car apart six times, he will have enough parts left over to build a new car, exclusive of the body. I am going to take my car apart every week and I think I ought to be able to build at least three new cars out of it. Then I will sell the old car and get another and start taking that apart. I should ought to clean up about 300 per cent on every car that I buy."

As a Country Paper Tells It.

A young woman entered Alexander Weed's drug store and asked for a bottle of "Vaseline" ointment.

"It's horrid stuff to take, you know, uth," said the young lady with a gasp.

"Vaseline," said the young lady, "is a brand name, isn't it?"

"Now tell me, Mr. Weed, how you would disguise castor oil?" "Why, madam, just gave you some."

"My gracious!" exclaimed the young lady, "why, I wanted it for my sister."

"Deceased had never been fatally sick."

"A mother died in infancy."

"Died suddenly, nothing serious."

"Pulmonary hemorrhage—sudden death." (Duration four years.)

"Killed by horse shod on left kidney."

"Don't no. Died without the aid of a physician."

SUNDAY AMUSEMENT

LEGAL BILL ARGUED

Theatrical Interests at Stake in Helm Bill, Which Was Heard in Senate Committee.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 22.—Theatrical interests supported the Helm bill legalizing Sunday amusement, before the senate state affairs committee. Ralph W. Jackson, Madison attorney representing theaters, characterized Madison interests instrumental in closing saloons and theaters on Sunday as the "finest crop of reformers to be found in any similar city of the size in the union." He was arrested four times for operating picture houses on Sunday.

"Moving picture shows," he said, "are a mighty sight more orderly than some prayer meetings I have known of in this town."

W. H. Austin, Milwaukee, representing operators of the Majestic theater, also supported the Helm bill. C. D. Barne, Keshona, approved it.

W. J. McKay, Madison, represented the state federation of churches. He said the real issue is not blue laws or the wishes of the churches, but the disturbance caused by Sunday amusements. Small towns, especially, are over-run by noisy, ball games. He said the sentiment of the state is exceedingly liberal religiously and that no one is asking for blue laws, but that the present laws are all right.

J. B. Davidson, representing the Wisconsin Sunday Rest association, opposed the bill.

The bill legalizes moving picture shows, baseball and golf games and temperance billiard halls on Sunday, provided they do not disturb peace and order of the community.

Making Good Work Possible.

As long as one is on his feet, he can work after a fashion, no matter how badly he feels. But you cannot do good work when you are tired and weary, feel that life is worth living only with sluggish bowels or torpid liver. Foley Cathartic Tablets do away with that drowsy, dull, tired feeling. They never gripe or cause nausea. They're wholesome, cleansing and healthful. Most satisfactory for stout persons.—W. T. Sherer.

CHAPTER X.

The Work Goes On.

WHEN the meeting was dismissed the scenes in the tabernacle were overpowering. Fathers and sons wept on each other's neck. Friends shook hands with friends, tears coursing down their cheeks for very joy. Mr. Cameron made his way to the platform where Reginald was getting his notes together and threw his arms around the young man, crying out, "Thank God, my boy, I have been praying for you."

For the first time since he left England the immigrant broke down entirely and wept himself in uncontrollable emotion. When he could speak he turned to Mr. Cameron and said, "I mean it. I have surrendered myself heart and soul to God this day."

Mr. Cameron pressed his hand warmly in response. A little later Mr. Marchmont also greeted Reginald. The veteran editor's eyes were moist as he told the younger man, "I have come back from many years of wandering," and then, laying his hand affectionately on Reginald's shoulder, he added, "I owe something to you for showing me that Christianity is a reality in the world."

Reginald did not understand what he meant at the time, but he shook hands warmly with his employer.

Out among the audience, meanwhile, another kind of scene was being enacted. George Caldwell sat in the choir loft during the sermon and had noticed the growing interest of Roland Gregory in the service. At the close of the meeting George hastened to the place where Roland Gregory was sitting and began to urge him to begin the Christian life.

"I have been wanting to talk to you about this for several days," said George Caldwell. "How happy it will make you if you accept Christ and become a Christian man."

Roland Gregory arose to his feet and stood with bowed head.

"Won't you come up to the front and settle the matter at once?"

"I would like to," said Roland in a shaking voice.

George Caldwell was delighted to see the unusual interest which the young man showed. "Come," he urged, "it is only a step. Take the step today, now, right now."

"Oh, George, I can't. It would mean too much. I can't, I can't." There was a wall, as of anguish, in the young manufacturer's voice, and George Caldwell was greatly moved.

"Let us get down on our knees, Roland," he said. "I will pray for you."

"No, no; I can't kneel before God," said the other. "I'm lost, George; I'm lost." Roland Gregory broke into tears. "Settle it now," pleaded the other, also greatly moved. "See how many others have surrendered. Did you not see Mr. Marchmont, Mr. Prince and young Mr. Nelson?"

"Yes. They can be saved, but not me, not me."

Roland Gregory turned and hurried away, leaving his friend wondering at his intense interest and at his despairing words.

ful religious service? "Did the young man as he greeted Mr. Graham. The elder man frowned slightly and replied: "Mr. Sunday is a magnetic speaker, I admit, but I do not believe in so much excitement as there was at the tabernacle today. I was surprised to see the actions of Mr. Prince and Mr. Marchmont. I thought they were more self-controlled."

George Caldwell was too much astonished at Mr. Graham's reply to make any further response, and he saw at once that Mr. Graham would not assist in any way in aiding Roland Gregory to become a Christian. It then suddenly dawned on George Caldwell that Mr. Graham, although the leading trustee of Central church in Bronson, was not himself a Christian professor, and he ventured to ask him about it.

"Would not this be a good time, Mr. Graham," he asked, "for you to make a public confession of your faith in Christ? You know you are a trustee of our church?"

Mr. Graham frowned again and answered, "If I were going to become a Christian I would not do so at a time of excitement like this."

Just then Joy Graham entered the room and the older man seemed glad to escape.

George Caldwell told in glowing language of the afternoon service at the tabernacle and of the presence and interest of Roland Gregory.

"I have been praying for Roland," said the girl, her eyes filling with tears. "God is answering my prayers."

"Do not tell him that I told you," cautioned the other, "as it might offend him, for you know how sensitive Roland is."

"I will be careful," said the girl. "By the way," added George, as he rose to leave, "Mr. Nelson came forward this afternoon, along with Mr. Marchmont and Mr. Prince."

"Splendid," answered the girl, with beaming eyes. "I am so glad to know that Mr. Nelson has decided the question. I could see every night how his interest in the sermons of Mr. Sunday was increasing. Is not Mr. Sunday a wonder?"

"He is a man qualified by God for a wonderful work in our country," said George Caldwell, earnestly.

"Are you going to Anglesley this evening, Joy?"

"Yes, mama, I promised Dr. Rutledge that I would accompany them tonight and sing a solo."

Joy Graham and her mother were talking one morning about two weeks after the close of the tabernacle meetings. Anglesley was a small town near Bronson and a number of the new converts had planned to accompany Allan Rutledge and Mr. Townley and hold an evangelistic meeting in Anglesley. Not only this village, but a whole circle of small towns around Bronson were in this way to share the religious enthusiasm which had been generated during the Sunday campaign.

"Do you think Roland would care to go?" asked Joy's mother.

"Isn't it too bad that neither Roland nor papa got any good from those wonderful meetings? If only they had attended they would soon have seen that their judgment of our evangelist was prejudiced. There was a true tremble in Joy's voice and the suspicion of a tear as she spoke.

"Well, well, child, we will have to make the best of it," responded Mrs. Graham. "We ought to be happy that so many have been won to the Christian faith during the past month. I was reminded of the old-time revivals which I supposed were utterly impossible in this day of culture."

As Mrs. Graham said, the Sunday meetings had been an unparalleled success. Upward of 8,000 converts had professed conversion to the religion of Christ. Among these were many of the public men of the community, including almost every county officer, a number of lawyers, some of the most prominent physicians, as well as well known business men. During the last week Billy Sunday had carried everything before him. The Courier carried his sermons far and wide over southern Michigan, and this had stirred up the churches in the surrounding villages, and they had asked for help from the new converts in Bronson. Under the leadership of Allan Rutledge a series of meetings were arranged, and that evening a company, including Reginald Nelson, Edgar Prince and Thomas Marchmont, intended to inaugurate this new and strange evangelism by holding a meeting in Anglesley.

"I will go down to Roland's office this morning and see if I cannot persuade him to go with me tonight," said Joy, after a pause. "If he can hear Mr. Prince give his testimony it may be as good as a sermon from Mr. Sunday, because Roland has always been an admirer of Mr. Prince."

"It is a very unpleasant day to be out," answered Mrs. Graham, looking out of the window. The March winds were blowing furiously and the trees were bending before the blast. "I will take the street car," responded the girl promptly. "I am not afraid of these March breezes."

In a little while Joy Graham entered the private office of Roland Gregory. The young manufacturer was alone, sitting with downcast head, and before he was able to glance up and see who his visitor was Joy Graham noticed a hardness about his face which was new to her.

"What were you thinking about?" asked Joy, when she had seated herself.

She looked closely at Roland as she asked the question, and she saw an uneasy look come to his eyes. But he turned to her lightly and asked, "And what may your thoughts be this morning, my Joy? What is on your mind that you have journeyed down to the office such a day as this?"

"I want to invite you to come with a party of us to Anglesley this evening. We are going to hold a meeting there, and I have promised to sing."

He was silent a moment and said a little testily:

"I thought we would get a rest after that clown, Sunday, left town. Are they going to keep up this religious nonsense all summer?"

"Roland, how can you talk so?" responded the girl reprovingly. "You are wrong. Can any one tell me why?"

Wearily she looked over the apathetic class.

"Come, come!" she said, encouragingly.

One youngster with a latent spark of chivalry, sought to help her out of the difficulty.

"Well," replied the other, "it all depends upon the age of the egg!"

The Practical Business Man was dictating his autobiography to be published after his death. Suddenly he ceased speaking and began to look behind the pictures on the wall, under the rugs and in other out of the way places.

"I'm looking for concealed dictographs," replied the Practical Business Man. "I want to be on the safe side before I tell you how I made my first dollar."

"I wonder if it is a real diamond," mused Dorothy as she contemplated the engagement ring Jack had given her.

"You needn't worry about that,"

"I have a long list of applicants for church membership," continued the minister. "Something like 500 will join our church next Sabbath morning. However, I am sorry to miss the names of your father and of Roland Gregory."

Drowsy and warm was the afternoon and the attention flagged considerably in the classroom.

FLY-SWATTING BECOMES A RELIGION IN WIDE-AWAKE NEW JERSEY TOWN

Englewood "scare-poster" to promote fly-swatting.

Two thousand conspicuous placards directed against flies have just been posted all over Englewood, N. J. At the top is a cartoon showing a six-legged fly carrying on each foot a skull, representing death-germs, to a cradle. Presumably the fly is about to inoculate with one of more of a dozen diseases the child sleeping in the cradle. It is a most effective picture plea, and is doing much to make fly-swatting a religion in the Jersey town.

Hereafter the basis of adjustment will be:

In Ford sizes, plain tread, 6,000 miles; Kant Slip, 7,500 miles. All other sizes, plain tread, 5,000 miles; Kant Slip tread, 6,000 miles.

The word "adjust" is merely figurative, because in 1914 the total adjustment in Kelly-Springfield Tires for the whole United States was less than 1%.

You get this unequalled service in uninterrupted mileage—not adjustment.

Before buying some other tire at a lower price analyze the basis of adjustment offered by the other maker—see what you really do get for less money.

"THE BEST" E. A. Kemmerer, Prop. 206-12 E. Milw. St. Both Phones

FURTHER TESTIMONY ON THE TWINE PLANT

used permanently, as storage room, it would be practical to do what should be done to better approach the situation to extend the elevator. At present, the situation is to keep the men busy. As Mr. Fitzgerald indicated, it is the best way to keep them in balance. I don't think we don't advocate that arrangement. I would like to know whether he found that fiber was well bought or poorly bought.

A. I thought it was well bought. By Mr. Smith: I am in a position to make a statement, that, as far as purchases are concerned, there is not a concern that is better bought for fiber than the Wisconsin state prison. I make that statement without fear of contradiction. As for the other items, it is impossible for us, at the hearing of a report, to make all explanations. Possibly some of the charges are not to be answered, but we would like an opportunity if the committee desires, to answer. To give all the information obtainable. We have the figures in the office of the transactions and disbursements for buildings, etc.

By Mr. Whitte: Q. Under what date was that balance taken showing the profit of some eight thousand? By Mr. Fitzgerald: A. February 23 this year. That is the profit shown on the books at the twine plant at that time.

Q. I notice that the report of the Board of Control shows profit of $3,211.57. You have seen that report.

No sir. By Mr. Smith: I may say that that report is furnished from the prison office.

Q. Do your books here in the office show the same profit? By Mr. Fitzgerald: A. We cannot tell.

Q. I thought you said you had duplicate books.

A. A duplicate set of accounting. Q. The nature of the accounting from the books up there, would that appear in the books here?

A. No. That is the reason I want to get hold of this report and go through it.

Q. Do your books here show a balance showing the earnings of the plant?

A. Yes, there on the profit and loss sheet, it was taken from my report. Q. You have their totals?

A. Yes sir. We would not know the reasons for making certain charges.

Q. But you would have to make the charge?

A. Yes sir. By Mr. Gilbert: Q. But so far as the binding plant is concerned, you take their figures in estimating profits?

By Mr. Tappins: Yes, we do that. We have all matters pertaining to the general accounting handed in to the department here as up there.

By Mr. Smith: Have you ever made any computation as to what you think these accounts up there are worth?

By Mr. Tappins: Not exactly. We went over them in the office.

Q. How many thousand dollars have we a record of?

A. Since the 1st of this month, they have paid in about $4,981 on those accounts.

By Mr. Fitzgerald: Q. Since February 23rd to this time?

A. I don't know.

By Mr. Fitzgerald: I urged that they go out after them and get collections.

By Mr. Tappins: They haven't done it.

By Mr. Fitzgerald: They have made some effort.

By Mr. Tappins: The only effort made is to send out circular letters signed by Mr. Woodard's name on the printing machine, just a printed form, not even inscribed the name, with just "Dear Sir."

By Miss Williams: Q. In the early part of your report did you understand you to say that the accounts didn't have Dunn and Bradstreet's?

A. I said they did have it.

Q. I understood you to say they didn't have it.

A. I said they had it, and I asked him why they didn't use it. They said they hadn't looked up ratings, and I said "What use are the books to you?"

When I asked about the ratings of some man he said it was "G-3." He looked it up to see what it meant and finally said, "Well, I guess 'G-3' means 'Good' or something like that." And that man's in the credit department! Knows absolutely nothing about it.

By Mr. Whitman: You said about $49,000 had been paid on the $53,000.

A. Yes sir.

By Mr. Smith: Of course there has been an extension of time given according to Mr. Woodard's explanation, on account of the failure of crops in North Dakota we had to carry over many.

By Mr. Whitte: I don't think that is generally practiced. It may be done by the International. An Iowa concern sold three million dollars worth in the same territory and their outstanding was only four thousand.

By Mr. Smith: The information we got was partly from men who had bought and been carried over.

By Mr. Fitzgerald: I don't think that is generally practiced.

By Mr. Whitte: Is that because of the class of trade to which you have been selling, or a general practice as to carrying over?

By Mr. Smith: I cannot say. We have one of the International men in our employ and he says it is the practice with them.

By Mr. Whitman: Then you couldn't collect them this year?

By Mr. Smith: But when there is a crop failure and the men don't have the money, it is a question of losing a customer.

By Mr. Whitte: I was wondering whether the condition of the customer was such that he could not collect if he wanted to, or whether, as a business proposition, you carried him or not.

By Mr. Smith: It is impossible for the Board of Control to conduct the twine business in the office at Madison. We have furnished them Dunn and Bradstreet and pay for special reports to be obtained.

Q. How much twine do you manufacture a year?

A. Last year, about 4,500,000 lbs. Something like $200,000.

Q. And practically all of it sent out on credit?

A. I think we have sold in the two years something like $600,000 worth of twine.

By Mr. Whitte: Q. How do you determine the price at which you sell?

A. From the cost as given from the factory.

Q. One of the Dakotas has a twine plant?

A. I think both of them.

Q. How do you get up in that territory?

A. Because their capacity is so small, I don't know what is the matter but they don't seem to sell.

By Mr. Gilbert: Q. In fixing the price of twine for the consumer or buyer, don't you take into consideration the market, but simply what it costs?

A. I don't mean that we sell by cost, but it is a determining factor. But we also consider the market.

price. This year Minnesota determined on a price early in June. Q. I am not speaking about the twine plants, but the general market as to cotton? A. We consider the general market in fixing our price, putting it not so high as to fail to sell our goods.

Q. I thought from your first answer, that your price would be governed by the cost of production?

By Mr. Whitman: Q. Do you ever have trouble in disposing of your profit?

Q. How about the year before?

A. The year before it was unnecessary to run the night shifts, but the warden was not taking on outside orders.

Q. You will agree that the institution is not run along good business lines, don't you?

A. I agree, but it is decidedly improved. I will say it cannot be run on business lines when you must take a chief accountant, etc., from civil service.

By Mr. Whitte: Q. How would you amend it? Repeat it?

A. I believe that all positions of trust, fiduciary relations, in the institutions should not be on the civil service list.

I don't think that your warden, your deputy warden, your superintendent of the twine plant, your chief accountant, your chaplain, should be on the civil service list, and the doctor, I will include also, so as to get the cashier in, the assistant accountant.

Q. You would confine that alone to positions of that character in institutions.

A. I think I would, chiefly.

Q. You would not make any relief then for the departments here in the prison?

A. Oh yes, we differ from civil service there. There is this: When you come to hire clerks and stenographers it is a relief to heads of the department to be bothered with Tom, Dick and Harry looking for a job.

You go there and have the people who have the qualifications and are worthy.

By Mr. Bennett: That is the chief advantage of civil service, is it not?

Q. You would apply it only to clerks and stenographers and employees of that character.

Yes sir, to subordinate positions.

speakers were James Reed and W. F. Dockery. Officers were elected for the club as follows: President, W. B. Haworth; vice president, W. F. Dockery; secretary, Easton Johnson. The hour and address of the evening were Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Fish.

Edgerton News

Edgerton, April 22.—The annual high school oratorical contest to pick four speakers to represent the school in the final tryout was held yesterday afternoon in the high school auditorium. Two speakers represented the seniors and two for the sophomores, while the juniors and freshmen were represented by one each. The following orators were given:

Spartacus to Gladiators—Sylvester Burdick, freshman.

Genius of Modern Patriotism—Marion Ogden, sophomore.

Washington—George Lyntz, sophomore.

Evolution of Conscience—Frances Curran, senior.

The New South—Milford Nelson, senior.

Evils of War—Sanford Smith, junior.

Following this the judges, Messrs. Claudon Farman and Matthew Rother, and Mrs. Charles W. Birkmeyer, rendered their decision. The four that were given places were Marion Ogden, George Lyntz, Frances Curran and Milford Nelson. These four speakers will compete in the oratorical and declamatory contest to be held in this city a week from Friday night. F. O. Holt is training the contestants and they all show excellent ability in this line of work.

The Boys and Girls Literary society of this city met in the high school auditorium last evening and held a joint meeting, which was open to all the boys and girls of the high school who have belonged to either society this year. After a business meeting of both societies they held their regular banquet. Following this the following program was given:

Debate—"Resolved: That woman suffrage has justified itself where it now exists." The affirmative was argued by Misses B. Girard, H. Farman, C. Cunningham, while the negative was argued by Messrs. C. V. Gifford, Thompson and Rollin Linder.

The affirmative was able to answer the negative's arguments. The judges were L. A. Anderson, C. W. Birkmeyer and C. V. Gifford.

Following this the girls gave a musical force and the boys also showed some talent in the dramatic line, and program. When the program was over the members of both societies will plan to hold another such meeting in the near future. The party was supervised by Messrs. C. V. Gifford and E. S. Lamoreaux, two of the local high school instructors.

How Federal Restrictions Were Placed on Wireless Operations

(By Burton K. Standish.)

Washington, April 21.—"Help! Help! We're sinking!" On a cold blizzard Christmas eve several wireless operators in the United States harbor picked up this wireless call of distress and put out to sea to find the storm's victim. A hard night's work failed to reveal trace of the vessel that had sent the call and the exhausted crew of the government vessel returned disheartened to the harbor.

By process of elimination then it was learned that the cry for help had been sent by two Harvard students operating an amateur wireless station. It was their idea of humor.

And that is a more or less general conception held by the public of amateur wireless operators are doing or are likely to do. However, the conception does the amateur an injustice, aside from the fact that government regulations now hedge amateurs about so well that they scarcely dare attempt foolish pranks with instruments so fraught with possibility of disaster, the amateurs themselves have come to have too high a regard for the wireless service to use it for such silly entertainment.

"We've Been Overwhelmed With Calls"

The wrong phone number was given in a want advertisement in last evening's paper.

About an hour after the paper was off the press the chief operator of one of the telephone companies called the classified department and requested that the correction be made as soon as possible for as she said, "We've been overwhelmed with calls."

We apologized to the operators although the mistake was not ours.

Want ads bring results but we never hear of them unless it is a case like this. We would like to hear from all of the successes from want ad users. To encourage this response the Gazette offers 50c for each letter telling of results obtained through advertising in these columns.

Make your letter as interesting as possible but give all facts and tell approximately the date the advertisement appeared.

CLAIMS THINNING OF FORESTS CAUSES BIG DEPOPULATION.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Paris, April 22.—Paul Descombes, discussing the progressive depopulation of France, gives some statistics to show that the thinning of the woods and forests is largely responsible. There are thirty-one French departments that are more or less mountainous. These now have 8,394,940 inhabitants. If the old rate of increase had been maintained their population would be 11,386,266. Monsieur Descombes points out that the mountainous regions of Switzerland, which should not be any less favorable to repopulation than the mountainous regions of France, show an increase of more than 50 per cent in population during the last 60 years, and he attributes it to the fact that forest protection in Switzerland is far more rigorous than in France.

RAISE THE STANDARD OF SCHOOL CREDITS

University Man Appears Against Hanson Bill Which Would Allow Any Accredited Student to Enter University.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., April 22.—The Frank Hanson bill permitting graduates of any accredited high school to enter any college or department of the university was opposed before the senate committee on education and public welfare by university authorities, including President Van Hise, Dean H. L. Richards and Prof. H. L. Smith of the law school, and Dean Bardeen of the medical school. It has particular reference to the law department, which requires preparatory college work as a requisite to entrance. Senator Hanson favored removing this regulation, saying that students should be allowed to take the law course unrestricted, and if they cannot do the work can drop out. President Van Hise said this would lead to expensive administration, and that poorly trained students trying unsuccessfully to carry on the law work means retardation of the work of the rest. The university men said the bill aimed to lower the standards required for training lawyers, and that eminent attorneys, from the chief justice down, and including both judiciary and committees, favor raising rather than lowering the standards.

Senator Hanson's bill doing away with the requirement for foreign language study as a requisite for a degree at the university was also opposed by the university officials. Senator Hanson said he was an American citizen and believed Americans attending their own schools should not be required to have foreign languages thrust upon them whether they liked it or not. He thought election of foreign languages should be made optional with students. E. K. Lightcap, a student, favored reducing the requirement to make foreign languages elective.

TOTAL PROHIBITION URGED BY WORKMEN

Labor Delegations Law Stress on Evil of Clubs if Temperance Laws Are Passed in England.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Glasgow, Scotland, April 22.—Several of the labor delegations which urged upon Chancellor Lloyd George the advisability of total prohibition of alcoholic liquors during the war, made a particular point of the fact that any such prohibition, to be effective, must apply to private clubs as well as to saloons and hotels.

While this was urged partly on the ground that any such prohibition should operate equally upon all classes, it was also observed that in many towns it would be futile to close the bar-rooms and leave the clubs open. Glasgow is the most striking example of this, for the workmen's clubs here are very numerous, and they practically all serve liquor.

These clubs, in fact, have completely defeated the object of recent legislation for the early closing of saloons in Great Britain. Early closing and Sunday closing in Glasgow merely transfer the drinking from the licensed houses to the clubs.

The membership of these workmen's clubs are generally nominal, and in many cases are dispensed with entirely through the presentation of a form of receipt for money which has never been paid. The law requires that only members may be allowed admittance to a club serving liquor, but the enforcement in Glasgow is very lax, and a newspaper investigator last Sunday obtained admittance unquestioned to a large number of clubs, although he was not a member of any. In several of them he found upwards of 150 persons seated around the tables.
